High Street Equity Advisors, a Boston-based real estate investment firm, recently appointed Carolyn B. Tiffany to the position of chief operating officer. Bringing more than 19 years of real estate finance, accounting and operations experience to High Street, Tiffany will be responsible for the firm's financial, portfolio and asset-management activities, including asset sales. She also will be responsible for the management of the firm's operating budget and will be involved in the placement of private debt and the capital formation for company funds. Prior to joining the firm, Tiffany served as executive vice president and chief operating officer for Winthrop Realty Partners, a national real estate investment and management company, which most recently served as the external advisor to two publicly traded real estate investment trusts, Winthrop Realty Trust and Newkirk Realty Trust, which merged in 2006 with Lexington Corporate Properties Trust to form Lexington Realty Trust.
